New SEPTA Regional Rail Schedules Go Into Effect Monday, Aug. 5

PHILADELPHIA (August 1, 2019) – SEPTA would like to remind customers that new schedules go into effect for all Regional Rail lines starting Monday, Aug. 5.

Most changes include minor timetable adjustments to enhance service for customers and improve on-time performance. For customers who travel during the morning and evening rush hour on weekdays, a number of trips across all lines will begin earlier – most in the two-to-six minute range, however some are being adjusted by 10 minutes or more. There are similar changes to mid-day service.

For a full details, visit <http://septa.org/schedules/upcoming-rail-schedules.html>. Customers can click on specific lines to see the changes that may impact their travel. There are also links to the new schedules for each line.

Printed schedules are now available at SEPTA locations throughout the system. Customers should look for timetables labeled August 5, 2019. The new schedules will also be uploaded to the Official SEPTA App prior to the start of service on Monday.
